Power Speaking (a taster)

Speaking and brain-powered techniques to engage your audience and generate an aura of power

Overview

Speaking to audiences whether small or large has a disproportionate affect on your image, your power and your perceived authority. Master it well and you will be spoken about in the best of terms, you will be recommended and your name will get about. Speaking in the corporate environment is an essential business and leadership skill - ignore this skill at your peril!

The Speakers:

This short taster is designed from 2 perspectives.

1. The "power speaker" led by Mike Pagan one of UK's Premier Speakers. Mike has a proven track record and has performed to audiences of thousands and alongside some of UK's most recognized celebrities. Mike has been on the professional speaking circuit for over 10 years now and is recognised for his – well – powerful voice. A man of no messing about, indeed his book "Faff" focuses on just this.
2. Andy Habermacher, also a professional speaker, focuses his interest on areas of influence and engagement away from the simple power of voice and into what is happening in your mind. The true art of engagement from the mind's perspective. He has coached leaders' of some of the most recognised Swiss Blue Chip companies. His work with NBG (The NeuroBusiness Group) focuses on brain-powered leadership strategies.

What's in it for me?

This taster will leave you with a fusion of the most powerful techniques from a speaking techniques point of view and from the perspective of brain engagement. A short seminar designed to boost your personal power and confidence whether speaking to an audience of 2 or 2000. Become more than another suit on stage, another point without power, and be remembered for all the right reasons.
